Reporting on e-learning and flipped classroom feedback (Spring 2021)

The most interesting part of e-learning process were short tests after each lesson. That way we were able to see how much had we understood and remembered the lessons. We have to admit, some parts of the lessons were a little confusing because we felt like we didn't have that high level of knowledge but it was really interesting to get to know the way circular economy works and how it reflects on the other things in life. The more pictures, the presentation is better understood.

Flipped classroom was fun because we had the opportunity to talk with our colleagues and to share our opinion about the other topics. Asking and answering questions really helped to make a friendly and relaxed learning atmosphere.
